Department of Defense Awards Food Service Management Software Contract to Horizon Software International LLC; Joint Project Automates Every Dining Facility Worldwide for Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps

ATLANTA--(BUSINESS WIRE)--May 24, 2005--Horizon Software International LLC, a global leader in technology for food service operations, announces today the Defense Logistics Agency (DLA) has awarded it a contract to provide food service management software to the dining facilities of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps. The DLA will install the Horizon solution worldwide on land bases, ships, submarines and in remote battlefield locations.

Horizon has approximately 14,000 institutional food service installations serving K-12, Higher Education, Healthcare, Retirement Communities, and Correctional Facilities throughout the United States, Asia and Europe. "Horizon's employees are excited about having this tremendous opportunity to participate in and contribute to this important aspect of our national defense," says Bob Williamson Chairman/CEO of Horizon Software.

It is the objective of the Department of Defense to provide one completely integrated food service system that includes point of service and back office management software for all food service operations and dining facilities. Currently, each service uses a different system. These systems are not integrated well and some are outdated. The current systems are also expensive to maintain. Converting to one integrated system for all services will save time and money.

The integrator selected by DLA will be responsible for leading the project and implementing the system worldwide, as well as integrating the new solution with other food service and logistics-related systems. Horizon will work closely with the system integrator and the DLA to implement their OneSource Point of Service and Back Office Solution.

The OneSource POS system includes all of the features for any serving line configuration. The solution offers extensive hardware flexibility providing several options for POS terminals and input devices. The OneSource Back Office Suite, a powerful and complete back office management solution, has set the standard of excellence in food service management. This customizable management solution manages cost, inventory, purchases, production, menu plans and much more.
